REDUNDANCY PAY COST COUNCIL £5M

Six left with total packages of more than £100k, accounts reveal MASSIVE redundancy payments caused the total amount of Haringey Council employees taking home more than £100,000 in a year to rocket.

According to the local authority's draft accounts for 2013/14, 21 employees' gross pay and benefits was more than £100,000.

That was up from just nine in 2012/13.

However, that figure is inflated by six people sharing a massive £490,768 in redundancy, with their six-figure exit payments well above their basic salary of less than £100,000.

And with former director of children's services Sharon Shoemith receiving a total of £679,452 after winning her claim for unfair dismissal, it means Haringey paid out a total of £4,964,946 in redundancy payments in 2013/14.

Responding to the figures, a council spokeswoman said: "In short, the total number of staff earning more than £100,000 remains at nine."

"This is because the information this year included schools for the first time, so six of the 21 are from schools. These will mostly be headteachers, but aren't new – it's just new to how the figures are presented."

"In addition, six of the 21 were only paid more than £100,000 because their pay for the year included a redundancy payment whereas their basic salary was less than £100,000."

"Obviously, these people wouldn't have been above the £100,000 mark on a usual year and won't be next year."

Top of the tree for earnings is chief executive Nick Walkley, who is paid a basic salary of £189,440 – and with pension contributions that rises to £232,252.

That basic salary is the same as Mr Walkley agreed when he joined the authority from Barnet Council in October 2012.

It was a drop on what he was earning as chief executive in the neighbouring borough and also a significant fall from the £210,245 that his predecessor Kevin Crompton was pulling in before he left in July 2012 after 28 months in the job.

The news coincides with the release of a report by the TaxPayers' Alliance showing that nationally in 2012/13, there were at least 2,181 council workers who earned more than £100,000.

That is a fall of five per cent on the 2011/12 figure of 2,295 – although 93 councils bucked the trend and saw the amount of staff earning at least six figures increasing.

Jonathan Isaby, chief executive of the TaxPayers' Alliance, said: "It is good news that the number of senior council staff making more than £100,000 a year is falling, although that may only be because many authorities have finished paying eye-watering redundancy bills."

Woman, 81, missing

POLICE are appealing for help to find an 81-year-old woman.

Marion Grant, right, was last seen at her home in Wood Green at 10.30am on Saturday. However, Haringey Police said her Freedom Pass was used in the Kensington area of central London at 7.20am on Sunday.

Ms Grant, who is black and of medium build, was last seen wearing a black coat, brown trousers and black shoes. She may also be wearing a beret. Anyone with information should call Haringey Police on 101.

Marchers gather to mark the third anniversary of Mark Duggan's death AROUND 200 people marched through the streets of Tottenham on Monday evening to commemorate the third anniversary of the fatal shooting of Mark Duggan.

The 29-year-old was shot dead by a police marksman in Ferry Lane, Tottenham, on August 4, 2011, with his death sparking the riots which spread across London and then nationwide.

The marksman, known only as V53, shot Mr Duggan through the heart after police stopped a minicab in which he was travelling.

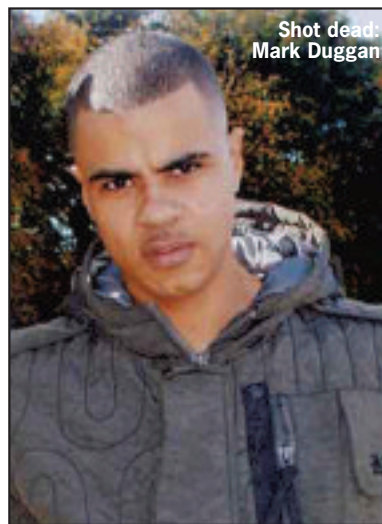

In January, an inquest ruled that the father of four had been lawfully killed – even though he not holding a gun at the time he was shot.

His family has challenged that ruling and is awaiting the decision of High Court judges after a judicial review into the inquest's findings concluded last month.

On Monday, campaigners marched from the Broadwater Farm Estate, in Tottenham, where Mr Duggan lived, to the spot where he was shot dead.

A vigil followed, with a minute's silence, as well as speeches from a number of campaigners and his aunt Carol Duggan.

Lido users left high and dry by delays

THE firm which runs Crouch End's lido has apologised that it was not open to coincide with the start of the school holidays.

The outdoor swimming pool at Park Road Leisure Centre was meant to be open at the end of last month.

But that date has had to be pushed back to Friday, August 15, with Fusion Lifestyle citing "complications" encountered during the pool's revamp.

Work is currently taking place at the lido as part of a £7.5million refurbishment of the leisure centre.

It includes repainting the pool and installing a new kiosk, changing block, showers, ticket office and turnstiles, as well as landscaping around the lido.

Fusion said that the work was "progressing well".

But, in a statement, it said that there had been "a small, unavoidable delay to the anticipated opening date of the lido due to complications with the replacement of the 80-year-old filtration pipe network".

The leisure operator added: "Fusion Lifestyle would like to apologise for any disappointment caused by the delayed opening to the lido and to thank customers for their continued understanding during this redevelopment period."

"We look forward to revealing the new-look lido to you shortly."

The news has not gone down well with pool users, with Luke Coleman taking to Twitter to call it "commercial suicide, not to mention unbelievably bad planning".

David Frise added of the line that work was progressing well: "Evidently, it isn't".

Fusion will be holding a special opening event at the leisure Centre on Saturday, August 23.

There will be free entertainment and activities for all the family. For more details, visit www.fusion-lifestyle.com/lido

Residents in call for revised cycling plan

By Ruth McKee

ruth.mckee@nlhnews.co.uk

COUNCIL chiefs need to "wake up" to the fact their original proposals for transforming Enfield into a cycle friendly borough will not work, a resident has claimed.

Linda Miller, of Raleigh Road, Enfield Town, spoke out against the plans at a meeting organised last week by the Enfield Conservation Area Study Group.

Caroline Carter, chairwoman of the study group, had invited residents to hear a presentation from Ben Hamilton-Baillie, a traffic consultant at Enfield Civic Centre, in Silver Street, last Wednesday.

She had asked him to show alternatives to a segregated cycle lane system as outlined in the original Mini-Holland proposal document submitted as part of Enfield Council's successful bid to secure £30million for a complete overhaul of cycling infrastructure in the borough.

One element of the original proposal was to restrict private vehicle access in Church Street to buses and bicycles. Cecil Road would be transformed into a two-way street to compensate for the restrictions.

Mr Hamilton-Baillie told residents about schemes he had worked on in which street spaces were stripped back and signs, kerbs, road markings and traffic lights were jettisoned. Instead, planners "placed responsibility back on to drivers", allowing cyclists, pedestrians and motorists to freely mix in the same space.

"The last thing you want to do in a town is give drivers a green light," he said. "Green lights send exactly the wrong signal to drivers."

In a question-and-answer session following the presentation, Mr Hamilton-Baillie told residents they should be open-minded about the possibility of two-way traffic in Cecil Road. "Congestion is often a sign of a healthy, thriving town centre," he said.

However, Ms Miller has reservations about that particular claim.

"I agree that it can be a sign of a good economy, but what if you live on those streets? It is not very pleasant then," she said.

"The report into the original proposal said that the health outcomes for all residents would be improved if more people took up cycling – but that's a very big 'if'."

"It is time for councillors to recognise that in some respects they have been badly advised by officers who put together this proposal. They need to wake up to the fact they have to start thinking about the impact of this scheme on residents and businesses and put them first."

Cabinet member for the environment Chris Bond said: "The bid was just that – a bid. It has nothing to do with the final scheme. You put the bid in, then you sort exactly what you're going to do."

"People aired their concerns and they will be dealt with when we get plans together and put them out for consultation. People are already writing in with their ideas and we will look at them all. It is an opportunity to focus for us to make the whole borough a better place."

Car crime stays as a top priority

MOTOR vehicle crime and antisocial behaviour are priorities for police across the borough this summer.

Setting out where officers will focus their efforts during the coming months to Enfield Council's new safer neighbourhoods board last week, Detective Chief Inspector Paul Healy, of Enfield Police, who is responsible for neighbourhood policing and crime reduction, said theft from and of vehicles remains a concern.

Operation Spyder, which aims to clamp down on vehicle crime by raising awareness about the best ways residents and businesses can protect themselves, will carry on.

It was launched last December and has led to more than 95 arrests.

"The operation will continue indefinitely despite the fact that such offences are down by 8.5 per cent on last year," said DCI Healy. "We have noticed that vehicle thefts are particularly interested in Mercedes Sprinter vans, the parts of which are valuable, particularly the engine."

DCI Healy acknowledged that antisocial behaviour also remains a concern for residents. He added: "We always see an increase in antisocial behaviour during the summer months and are trying to reduce that by focusing on locations that feature on a regular basis."

After the summer, officers' focus will shift back to burglary as part of the police and council's joint Safe As Houses campaign.

The responsibilities of the new board, which replaces the Enfield Community Police Partnership, include establishing police priorities as well as monitoring police performance and complaints against officers.

It will meet quarterly at the Civic Centre, in Silver Street, Enfield.

Never forget: Crowds at the event in Broomfield Park where wreaths were laid and readings and musical performances took place, including one by Anthony Fisher, right, of Enfield Poets

Wreaths laid and lights turned off to mark declaration of war

By Ruth McKee

ruth.mckee@nlhnews.co.uk

RESIDENTS and politicians came together on Monday to mark a century since Britain declared war on Germany.

Dignitaries, veterans and members of the public gathered in Broomfield Park, Palmers Green, to commemorate the day, 100 years ago, when Britain entered into World War I.

The event featured speeches and poetry readings as well as musical performances of songs from the period. Ulrich Roland, the mayor of Enfield's twin town of Gladbeck, in Germany, and Serges Deses Maison, mayor of French town Courbevoie, which is also twinned with Enfield, were among the guests.

Also in attendance were council leader

Doug Taylor, Enfield mayor Ali Bakir and Yasemin Brett, cabinet member for community organisations.

Wreaths were laid at the war memorial in the park and a visitors' information board was unveiled by the Friends of Broomfield Park.

Speaking before the event, Mr Taylor said that it was only "right and proper" to commemorate the conflict that introduced "industrial warfare" to the world.

He added: "It is important to remember the terrible events which were sparked on August 4, 1914, so we can learn from the mistakes of history and try to prevent them from ever happening again.

"This event will be an opportunity to remember the people who made the ultimate sacrifice and lost their lives in the service to their country during the four years of conflict, but also to reiterate our commitment to our European friends in Courbevoie and Gladbeck."

A wreath was also laid at Palmers Green Bus Garage, in Regents Avenue, to remember transport workers who lost their lives during the World War I.

In the evening, buildings across the borough, including the Civic Centre, in Silver Street, Enfield Town, pictured, were plunged into near-darkness as residents and businesses joined the Royal British Legion's Lights Out event.

They were invited to turn their lights off for an hour from 10pm and instead leave a single candle or light burning.

The event, which took place nationwide, was inspired by the words of Sir Edward Grey, who was Foreign Minister from 1905 to 1916.

He said on the eve of war: "The lamps are going out all over Europe – we shall not see them lit again in our lifetime."

In memory: Union rep Tony Gilbey and operations manager Winston Nairne with the wreath that was laid at Palmers Green Bus Garage

Outbreak of hostilities was met with 'considerable excitement'

A CENTURY ago the Enfield Gazette, the Advertiser's sister paper, reported on the "considerable excitement" with which residents reacted to the outbreak of war.

In sombre tones the Gazette reported that "Tuesday August 4 will be a memorable day in the annals of our Island Story (sic) as on that day war was declared between Britain and Germany".

The report gives an insight into how, for many residents, after weeks of build-up and tense speculation, the declaration of war came as something of a relief.

The paper detailed how for many people living in the borough, the news that Britain had declared war on Germany "was hardly surprising" after months of reports of German aggression.

The unnamed reporter adds that by August 1914, most people were anticipating Britain's declaration of war on the "Teutonic Peril".

With the hindsight afforded by reading the Gazette's coverage a century later, the glee with which residents cheered on troops seems macabre to today's readers.

The paper reported how enthusiastically army reservists answered the call-up, cheered on by residents.

"You could hear it in the distance," the report reveals. "The regular heavy thud, thud, denoting the advance of a large body of men. Suddenly the drums and fifes began to play and the crowd on Windmill Hill surged down towards the town from which direction the sound came."

"There they are" came the cry as around the Wesleyan Chapel there swung the advance company with the band."

The one cautionary note on the horrors of war came from a report of the vicar of Enfield's sermon in which he told the congregation that they were gathered "under a cloud of deepest anxiety and trouble".

The vicar added: "A catastrophe threatens the people of Europe unprecedented in its magnitude and pregnant with the horror."

"It is impossible for any of us to grasp all that such a war may, and indeed must, entail of human suffering and human distress."

Looking back: How the Gazette reported the start of the war

Post-mortem finds that toddler taken to closed A&E died of natural causes

By Koos Couvée

koos.couvee@nlhnews.co.uk

A TODDLER died of natural causes after being mistakenly taken to Chase Farm Hospital a month after its accident and emergency unit was shut down, it has been revealed.

Two-year-old Muhammad Hashir Naveed was taken to the hospital, in The Ridgeway, Enfield, pictured, in the early hours of January 15 as his mother thought that she could still gain access to emergency services there.

Muhammad later died at North Middlesex University Hospital, in Sterling Way, Edmonton, having been taken there by London Ambulance Service, which at the time said the boy was "in cardiac arrest".

This week, North London Coroner's Court told the Advertiser that a post-mortem had concluded that Muhammad had died of natural causes. It was decided that an inquest would not be held.

A spokeswoman for the Royal Free London NHS Trust, which now administers Chase Farm, said: "We would like to extend our condolences to Muhammad's family on the loss of their son."

"We have carried out an investigation and we are currently making arrangements to meet Muhammad's family to discuss the findings."

Since the closure of Chase Farm's A&E unit, patients requiring emergency treatment are taken instead to the North Mid, or Barnet Hospital.

McKinnon warned not to see sick dad

By Koos Couvée

koos.couvee@nlhnews.co.uk

GARY McKinnon's mother has said her son is "very down" after being warned by his lawyers not to visit his ill father in Scotland as he could be extradited to the United States from there.

Mr McKinnon, 48, formerly of Palmers Green, who is wanted by the American authorities after hacking into almost 100 US military computers more than a decade ago, desperately wants to visit his dad Charlie, 70, who is in hospital in Glasgow recovering from a stroke.

But he has been warned off travelling to Scotland by his lawyers, who fear the US authorities may request the Scottish government to arrest and extradite him.

Mr McKinnon faced up to 60 years in a US jail after admitting hacking into the computers between February 2001 and March 2002.

However, in October 2012, following an 11-year campaign led by his mother Janis Sharp, Home Secretary Theresa May withdrew the extradition order due to the risk that Mr McKinnon, who suffers from Asperger syndrome, would take his life in an American prison.

But the extradition ruling applies only in England and Wales.

Ms Sharp, 65, of Potters Bar, told the Advertiser: "Gary is obviously very down because he wants to be with his dad. But the Americans were not happy with the decision so they could be waiting for an opportunity. It's just not worth the risk after an 11-year campaign."

Karen Todner, Mr McKinnon's lawyer, added: "Scotland has a separate legal jurisdiction so may not consider itself bound by the decision of the Home Secretary not to extradite Gary."

Feeling down: Gary McKinnon, with his mother Janis Sharp

"Unless he receives a categorical assurance that he will not be extradited, then my advice is that he should not travel outside of England and Wales."

A Scottish government spokeswoman said that any diversion from Mrs May's judgement would be unlikely.

She said: "While we do not comment on individual cases, there is no reason to suppose that anyone for whom extradition was refused in the rest of the UK would necessarily see it granted in Scotland."

"Scottish ministers also have no power to act in contravention of the European Convention on Human Rights."

Mr McKinnon has always maintained that his hacking was a manifestation of his lifelong obsession with UFOs.

Since the extradition order was withdrawn, he has been trying to rebuild his life and has launched Small SEO, a company which helps businesses to get mentioned in internet search results.

Labour councillors slammed for missing hospital meeting

By Koos Couvée

koos.couvee@nlhnews.co.uk

A MEETING about the future of Chase Farm Hospital was not attended by anyone from the Labour Party, it has been revealed.

A list of those at the stakeholder meeting on July 21, obtained from the Royal Free London NHS Foundation Trust, which now administers the hospital, in The Ridgeway, Enfield, also showed that no Enfield Council officers attended.

Joan Ryan, who next year will try to win back the Enfield North constituency from Tory MP Nick de Bois – who did go to the meeting – was absent, as were Enfield Labour councillors.

Terry Neville, leader of the council's Conservative group, said: "The meeting was well attended by those invited, except for Labour members or council officers, which I found very surprising."

"I wonder whether this was by design or incompetence?"

Defending the Labour no-show, council leader Doug Taylor, told the Advertiser: "Unfortunately, it was not possible to attend this particular stakeholder meeting."

"However, cabinet member Don McGowan, officers and myself have regular contact with the Royal Free and we meet regularly to discuss all relevant matters with executives."

"We will continue to encourage them to bring forward plans that deliver a secure future for much-needed services at Chase Farm."

Shooting threatens venue's licence

By Ruth McKee

ruth.mckee@nlhnews.co.uk

A LATE-NIGHT party venue in Edmonton could be shut down for good after a reveller was shot and another stabbed there last month.

Police officers from Enfield are appearing in front of the council's licensing subcommittee this morning in a bid to force the closure of the Golden Palace banqueting suite, in Harbert Road, after what they term was a night of "wholly unacceptable levels of serious violent disorder and threatening behaviour" on July 12.

In the report submitted to the subcommittee before this morning's meeting at Enfield Civic Centre, in Silver Street, police officers reveal that they were aware that rival gang members from notorious Tottenham gangs the Farm Boys and the NPK were regulars at the dance venue, and that tensions between them had been escalating for some months.

The report adds that officers believed that gangs from all over London were going to the venue at weekends and were sometimes armed.

Then, on Saturday, July 12, chaos erupted in the venue when one man was shot in the stomach and another was stabbed in the chest and stomach.

Licensing officer for Enfield Police Pc Martyn Fischer says in the report: "A fight was believed to have started within the venue which caused all of the patrons to run towards the exits."

According to the report, "no calls were made to police by management, staff, or security regarding this matter".

When the police arrived at the scene at 6.20am – three hours after the scheduled 3am closing time – they discovered about 50 people were still inside the building and a large crowd had gathered outside.

After asking to view the venue's CCTV footage, officers discovered that the camera system was not working and had not been working for some time.

Pc Fischer adds that the crime scene "appeared to have been cleared up by staff before the arrival of police, albeit apparently quite innocently".

Stressing that police feel the club will attract further violent gang crime, he says: "I am of the opinion that if licence for this venue is not suspended, further incidents of a similar nature are likely to take place as a way of revenge."

The decision on whether to permanently withdraw the venue's licence will be made this morning.

Columnist

Terry Neville
Conservative group leader

RECENTLY, Enfield Council leader Doug Taylor said he had made £75million of cuts. Has anybody really noticed?

He also argued the Conservative stance on cuts was hypocritical. I reject that outright. Our stance has always been that the cuts the government are making are inconvenient but necessary and unavoidable, given the dire state of the public finances inherited by the coalition in May 2010.

The UK had the highest deficit of any EU country and although the global problem was caused by a banking crisis, the UK's problem was exacerbated by a false boom in the economy created by Tony Blair and Gordon Brown and ably assisted by Ed Balls.

They kept borrowing without considering the consequences.

Brown deregulated the banks and sold our gold reserves at one of the lowest prices in the whole of their period in government. And despite an unsustainable rise in personal borrowing, they failed to take any steps to counter it.

George Osborne's plans, set out in the 2010 budget, were to eliminate the deficit by the end of this parliament.

There were only three ways to do that – raise taxes, borrow yet more and bring public finances under control by imposing austerity measures. Mr Osborne chose a combination of tax increases and austerity, which are undeniably working.

Instead of carping, Mr Taylor should reflect on the poor financial management of the Labour party when in government.

No one, least of all me, pretends that it is easy.

But, as he often says, that's what politics is about – choices.

Unanswered questions over hospital takeover

RE: "The existing Chase Farm site not fit for purpose" (Advertiser, July 23).

The Royal Free London NHS Foundation Trust appears to have discounted the responsibility of the services set under the Barnet, Enfield and Haringey clinical strategy.

Namely, to provide polyclinics, urgent care centres and walk-in centres in local communities, extra ambulances and more GPs before any reduction of provision for major hospital services.

That was so as to prevent the overcrowding of the remaining hospitals, especially with more housing and a growing population.

The demolition of a district general hospital is more than bricks, mortar, the value of its estate land – it affects people's lives.

An outline planning document for this was not made public.

A planning application was submitted to Enfield Council in November, with the full business case not published until the following summer.

Did that then make it open to even more reductions and alteration?

There was no mention of the wider community who have concerns regarding the health provision needed closer to home.

One wonders where the £263million of transitional funding is to come from to swell the Royal Free coffers over the next five years and who is to benefit from this funding from the sale of Chase Farm Hospital land?

All routine, pre-booked operations were to take place at Chase Farm Hospital. And after serious operations elsewhere, patients were mooted to be accommodated there.

Chase Farm needs more than a building for an urgent care centre manned by a GP and nurse provision only.

There are still many unanswered questions.

Giving parking spaces to cyclists does add up

RE Linda Millar's letter "Face the facts: cyclists spend less than drivers" (Advertiser, July 23).

Using the report Ms Millar refers to, which is written by Alison Lee and whose associated thesis it is based on, we can find the following:

"There are significant amounts of data available which suggest that cycling infrastructure changes travel behaviour.

"People choose to cycle because the paths and places to park are available, it is convenient and social norms have expanded to encompass cycling as a legitimate travel mode" (page 19 of Ms Lees' thesis).

She also talks of a "latent" desire to cycle that can be enabled.

In my brief time as the borough's co-ordinator for the London Cycling Campaign, I have come across many people who say, 'I don't cycle because it isn't safe but I would if cycling was made safer'.

Interestingly, the report also states having allocated two parking spaces to bikes that "the project was extremely successful, with the bike parking allocated full at peak periods, from about 6pm to 8pm, and very full around lunchtime also", and that the council made it permanent as a result.

So, those two spaces increased local spend.

I enlarged the associated photo and counted around 15 bikes, although others could be hidden, while there was space still available for other bikes.

Accepting 15 then for two hours at lunchtime and two hours in the evening, this equates to a spend by bikes more than five times higher than the revenue lost by taking those two spaces away.

Allowing for no bikes at any other time and the two spaces always full with cars from 9am to noon and 2pm to 6pm, then that would bring the total car spend to about half the amount cyclists have spent in four hours.

Enfield's cycling population is still small at the moment, but ask people if they have a bike and many will say that they have, but it sits in the garage or shed unused.

What we want to encourage is for people to get those bikes out and ride them instead of getting into the car and driving a short distance.

If you go to Enfield Town centre, there are now a number of cycle parking spaces, and they are slowly getting used more and more.

Perhaps we should take Ms Millar's suggestion and convert two parking spaces in Palmers Green and two in Winchmore Hill to cycle parking and see what happens.

However, this would also require the implementation of a cycling infrastructure that leads to those spaces just as cars have to ensure a true comparison.

London Cycling Campaign

Designed to hit landlords in the pocket

RE: K Kadir's letter (Advertiser, July 30) about the landlord licensing scheme.

I agree completely. This new tax is just a cash cow. Not only that, Enfield Council has police to deal with antisocial tenants. Yet it wants to tax all private landlords under this scandalous scheme – which the landlords will only pass on to their tenants anyway.

The council should deal with the unscrupulous landlords individually because all other landlords' tenants, such as ours, are vetted professionals.

I'm glad that this scheme is being legally challenged as it is a disgrace.

Susan Johnson
Chailey Avenue, Enfield

□ IT is nonsense to say that this is a measure to curb antisocial behaviour, instead just more red tape for landlords and another way of making money.

Why don't the government and the council provide the necessary housing for all these tenants?

Private landlords provide an amazing service. Thirty years ago, no one wanted to be a landlord as the law was geared totally in favour of tenants – now it's returning to that.

Let's just hope landlords soon have the sense to dump all their properties, then see what the government and council do as they watch the return of squats and masses huddled in doorways.

David Edwards
By email

□ LANDLORD Paul Brown, from Hyndburn, in Lancashire, has achieved a significant victory challenging selective licensing at a council tribunal.

This is incredibly important as it sets a precedent. Enfield should reevaluate its rationale surrounding the licensing scheme and settle this judicial review.

Sickening someone would abandon cats

I WAS sickened to hear about four cats being dumped outside the RSPCA clinic in Church Street, Edmonton.

The very high temperatures caused the death of one of the cats.

If you can relate to any of the following questions then it is a sign your denture needs attention:

DO YOU FIND YOUR DENTURES:

- Do not fit as well on your gums as they used to?
- Are they loose?
- Do not cut food as well as they used to?
- Do they make your face look older?
- Have discoloured despite meticulous cleaning or
- Cause discomfort/pain on chewing?

If any of the above breeds familiar territory then I may be able to alleviate some of these problems for you.

My name is Caroline Persaud I am a qualified CLINICAL DENTAL TECHNICIAN. Many of you may be aware of Dental Technicians/Mechanics who repair and produce dentures for dentists, however, due to recent changes in the Dental law, a group of Dental Care Professionals known as Clinical Dental Technicians have been approved by the General Dental Council and can now see denture wearers who have no natural teeth remaining, directly without having to visit a dentist.

The advantages to you, the patients, are numerous. You can be treated by a professional who has been clinically trained to undertake the impressions of your mouth and who also has the technical skill to manufacture your denture to meet your requirements.

Council helped 700 families hit by cuts

By Koos Couvée

koos.couvee@nlhnews.co.uk

THE way the council has tried to soften the impact of welfare benefit cuts on families in the borough has been recognised by a national charity.

The work of the welfare reform task force, created by Enfield Council in partnership with the Enfield Citizens' Advice Bureau and JobCentre Plus in 2012, to advise those worst affected by government cuts has been showcased on the CAB network's website since last month.

The benefits cap, which limits the amount a household can receive to £26,000 a year, or £500 per week, was piloted in Enfield in April 2013.

By then, officers from the housing, childcare, benefits and care departments had set up a working relationship with JobCentre Plus and CAB staff to advise about 1,700 families affected by the cap.

More than two-thirds of them were in private rented accommodation. Some 27 per cent of households lost more than £100 a week – but by May 2014, thanks to support, 560 households had found work and another 142 had moved to more affordable accommodation.

Council chief executive Rob Leak said: "We harnessed the skills of a dedicated professional council team to work with our partners at JobCentre Plus and CAB. They continue to work together and to support people who need it."

Sex chat TV past of duo running buses for youngsters

By Koos Couvée

koos.couvee@nlhnews.co.uk

DIRECTORS of a transport company which ferries children and vulnerable adults around the borough previously owned a "sex chat" TV channel that was reprimanded by broadcast regulator Ofcom over the raunchy behaviour of its presenters.

Star Bus Company Ltd, which describes itself as a "family-run transportation business", has contracts with Enfield Council as well as with the local authorities in neighbouring Barnet and Haringey to drive residents including those with special needs to and from nursing homes, schools and after-school clubs.

It has emerged that two of its directors, Alex and Carl Parkinson, formerly owned Hopper Entertainment Ltd, which until 2011 ran the adult sex-chat TV channel Live 960.

In 2010, Hopper was found in breach of the Ofcom Broadcasting Code following a complaint over a broadcast during which two Live 960 presenters carried out a number of sexual acts on each other.

At the time it said the provocative broadcast was an "accident". The company was wound up in 2012.

Last week, Mike Rye, Enfield Council's shadow cabinet member for adult social services and health, raised the issue with the Labour administration, referring to an article printed in satirical magazine Private Eye in June when Hopper's connection with the transport firm, which is based in Plantagenet Road, High Barnet, was first reported.

He said: "I was alarmed to read of the disreputable behaviour and trade in the sex industry of the directors of a company commissioned by the council to provide transport for children and vulnerable adults."

"The council has effectively supported those who chose to profit by demeaning women."

But Chris Bond, cabinet member for environment and community safety, said that the firm had only landed a contract following a

Parked up: Two of the company's buses at its base in Barnet

"comprehensive transparent tender process".

He added: "Star was one of several who applied as a part of a full tender process in 2012/13 for the provision of passenger transport services. The companies had to explain in detail how vulnerable service users would be protected and safeguarded while travelling on the vehicles."

"Star was competing against strong contenders, but demonstrated its ability to provide this service. The contract starts this autumn."

"We routinely monitor all contracts to ensure service users are safe and happy and their needs are being met."

The transport firm refused to comment despite repeated approaches by the Advertiser.

Mum backs bid for Commons debate on pregnancy drug

By Ruth McKee

ruth.mckee@nlhnews.co.uk

A MOTHER who has been campaigning for a public inquiry into the “forgotten thalidomide” pregnancy testing drug Primodos is calling on people to sign an online petition.

The petition, set up on public lobbying site 38 Degrees, is calling on Health Secretary Jeremy Hunt to sanction a debate in the House of Commons to “discuss the incontrovertible evidence that the Committee on Safety of Medicines was negligent in protecting the health of our unborn babies”.

The petition was set up by Marie Lyon, chairwoman of the association for children damaged by hormone pregnancy testing, and is being supported by Chris Gooch, 65, of Carnarvon Avenue, Enfield. Her daughter Emma was born with partially formed fingers and toes in 1971, after Ms Gooch was given the drug by her doctor as a pregnancy test.

The campaigners are lobbying the government for a full public inquiry into why women were given the hormone-testing drug, which contains the same hormones that are used in the contraceptive pill – but at higher concentrations.

Urging people to sign the petition Ms Gooch told the Advertiser: “A lot of people ask why there is such concern considering the drug is off the market now, but people are still suffering and we want the truth.”

“We want the government and the drug companies to tell us the truth. That is all we are asking for – the truth.”

A spokeswoman for manufacturers Bayer told this newspaper: “Bayer denies that Primodos was responsible for causing any deformities in children.

“Since the discontinuation of legal action in England in 1982, no new scientific knowledge has been produced which would call into question the validity of the previous assessment of there being no link between use of Primodos and the occurrence of congenital abnormalities.”

The petition can be accessed at: <https://you.38degrees.org.uk/petitions/expose-cover-up-of-hormone-pregnancy-tests>

Cat Hill squatters await court ruling

Keeping a close eye on events:
Resident Kim Coleman

PROTESTERS who have been squatting on the site of a former university campus are due to learn their fate today.

The squatters have occupied the site of the ex-Middlesex University site, in Cat Hill, Cockfosters, since April in defiance of developer London and Quadrant.

They have been hoping their presence would save wildlife on the site, including bats and newts.

Last week they were served with legal papers ordering them to clear the site – and they are due to appear at Barnet Magistrates' Court, in Regents Park Road, Finchley, this afternoon.

The protesters appeared before magistrates in May after L&Q sought a possession order, but at that stage they convinced Deputy District Judge Kenneth Arnold to delay a decision.

Although the protesters anticipate that legal papers will be delivered to them later this month and that they expect their court case to be heard in September, they said they were prepared to answer the case for continued occupation of the site.

The eco-warriors, who were involved in saving Friern Barnet Library from closure in 2012, joined forces with a residents' protest against the development of 231 homes on the site earlier this year.

The campaigners have maintained that untold damage is being done to the habitat of great crested newts, which breed in a pond on the site.

And they claim that the trees being felled in order to build the housing could decimate the local bat population.

Resident Kim Coleman, who has followed the squatters' legal case, said that their presence on an undisclosed section of the Cat Hill site had halted some of the developers' progress.

She added: "Since the activists protested about ancient trees being felled, which put the bat population at risk, there have been no further attempts to clear trees from the site."

Haringey Cypriots and British Parliamentarians rally in support of Cyprus

Further to last week's advertisement feature, in 1974, following the Greek Junta inspired coup and the ensuing invasion and continuing illegal occupation of the northern part of Cyprus by Turkey, Haringey 'hosted' 11,000 Cypriot refugees who joined their resident families in Haringey.

40 years on, Cyprus has still not been reunited.

The photos show the Organisation of Families of Missing Cypriots UK, whose base is in Haringey, picketing outside Parliament.

Lord Toby Harris of Haringey came across from the House of Lords to support them.

The President of the National Federation of Cypriots in the UK, Peter Droussiotti, who was formerly a Haringey Councillor and lives in Haringey, is seen addressing the Rally for Cyprus in Trafalgar Square.

Charitable rugby players show off cycling prowess

Welcome rest: The members of Enfield
Ignatians at the finish
under the Eiffel Tower

By Ruth McKee

ruth.mckee@nlhnews.co.uk

FIFTY rugby players swapped playing fields for bike saddles as they cycled from Enfield to Paris in a bid to raise thousands of pounds for charity.

The charitable members of Enfield Ignatians Rugby Club rolled into Paris on July 26 after three long days on their bikes.

Their near-500-kilometre journey took them from the clubhouse in Donkey Lane, Enfield, from where they set off, to the capital of France, where they finished under the Eiffel Tower.

Club stalwart Edmund Essilfie-Quaye came up with the masochistic challenge after deciding that the club should do something a little different this year to raise money for charities close to the players' hearts.

And his wife Fiona was behind the logistics of the daunting trip and the players were supported throughout by a car-load of physiotherapists and technicians who were ready to deal with every eventuality.

The intrepid cyclists managed to raise a grand total of £16,000 for their two chosen charities, the Russet House School, in Autumn Close, Enfield, which caters for children with special educational needs, and Cancer Research UK.

Although club spokesman Jonathan Landi did not complete the trek himself, he revealed that those involved had to be made of strong stuff to take part in the challenge.

"You can bet your life that there were blisters on backsides by the time the champagne was uncorked under the Eiffel Tower," he told the Advertiser.

"But, thankfully, they were prepared for it – all the guys had done a fair bit of training and they all had good fitness to begin with."

Anyone wishing to donate to the rugby players' efforts can still do so by visiting www.virginmoneygiving.com/Tour

"It's All in the Mind"

LighterLife Psychotherapist Mandy Cassidy gives her advice on how to "think slim" to lose weight for good this summer...

It's summer, a time that many of us start to think about losing weight, but if you're fed up with yo-yo dieting and want to make a permanent change, it's time to change your mindset towards food rather than focussing just on calorie counting.

"Pay attention to what you are eating, when you do this and how you do this"

Many of us are unaware of how often or when we overeat. Have you found yourself snacking on a large pack of crisps and been shocked when you have eaten the whole thing? Many of us know how this feels, but to stop this cycle you need to start focussing on whether you are actually feeding a physical hunger or simply using food as comfort to 'treat' feelings like stress or boredom.

"Deal with your feelings surrounding your weight"

Being overweight can often lead you to feel self-conscious about your appearance especially in the summer. This in itself can result in you reaching for your chosen 'comfort food'. It's important not to let your weight define you and become another reason you turn to food.

"Learning to keep the weight off"

Maintaining your weight loss can often be the most difficult part. LighterLife can help you deal differently with the specific situations that led to weight gain so you learn how to keep the weight off for good.

Entries close on Friday, August 15, and usual rules apply.

Historic: Locomotive 46115 Scots Guardsman, built in Glasgow in 1927, will drive the train from Yorkshire to Carlisle

EARLY-MORNING commuters will be greeted by a spectacular sight later this month when, for the first time, the Cathedrals Express picks up passengers from Enfield.

The train will stop at Enfield Chase at 6.30am on Tuesday, August 26, before taking passengers to visit the famous Settle and Carlisle Railway.

The train will be hauled by diesel to Yorkshire before steam locomotive 46115 Scots Guardsman takes over.

The locomotive, built in Glasgow in 1927 for use on the West Coast mainline, will take the burden on the scenic route through the Yorkshire Dales and North Pennines to the historic Cumbrian city.

Passengers will have at least two hours in Carlisle, where the castle dates back to 1092, while the cathedral's magnificent stained glass windows are from the 14th century.

They will rejoin the train at 4.30pm and it will return to Enfield at 12.20am.

Marcus Robertson, chairman of Steam Dreams, which operates the Cathedrals Express, said: "As steam journeys go, it doesn't get much better than this.

"Passengers can sit back and enjoy the spectacular countryside and take in this masterpiece of Victorian engineering, including the 24 arches of the breathtaking Ribbleshead Viaduct before we scale the heights of the Ais Gill."

Tickets are available in four classes, ranging from £115 in Premium Standard, including complimentary tea and coffee, to Pullman Style Dining, costing £249 per person, which includes a champagne breakfast and five-course dinner.

Make your aspiration a reality!

This stunning family home with 3000 sq ft of accommodation is located in a quiet cul-de-sac location off the prestigious Ridgeway overlooking Green Belt countryside with views across Trent Park Country Park and beyond.

Perfectly positioned within a small development of just three individual houses with their own gated entrance and moments from Windmill Hill's restaurants, Enfield Town shopping centre. Gordon Hill rail station is only a short walk away.

The thoughtfully designed accommodation offers flexible living accommodation on the ground floor with a good sized kitchen/ open plan family room with doors opening onto the large rear landscaped garden with feature lighting. Two further downstairs reception rooms together with a study, utility room and cloakroom provide plenty of living and working space for the whole family. Upstairs the spacious master suite with balcony includes a walk in dressing room and luxurious en-suite, four further good sized bedrooms and three further beautifully fitted bathrooms complete this versatile property's thoughtful design. Considerable attention has been given to the quality of the finishes and extra consideration to fittings throughout the home, for example the plate warming drawer, steam oven, wine cooler cabinet, kitchen tap with filter and instant boiling water facility, even a wall mounted cycle rack in the double garage (remote controlled doors – naturally!). Other features such as multi-zoned underfloor heating, intelligent lighting, facilities for wall mounted flat screen TVs and Sky HD+, cabling for iPod docking station and ceiling speakers are included as well as quality carpets, Porcelain floor tiling – all included in this aspirational property.

And you do not need to feel guilty – all three properties have Energy display devices, 100% low energy light fittings, achieve Level 3 of the Code for Sustainable Homes and 100% Lifetime Homes Standards.

And for peace of mind – 10 year NHBC Warranty.

You and your family could be enjoying this enviable lifestyle within weeks. Building completion expected shortly.

Property tips

As the seasons change, do some general maintenance to the exterior areas of your property. Power wash driveways, paths, decking and patios as they can get grimy during the summer months and slippery when wet.

CONDITIONS OF ACCEPTANCE FOR ALL ADVERTISEMENTS

Orders are accepted by the Publishers subject to the Standard Conditions agreed between the Newspaper Society and the Institute of Practitioners in Advertising. Save that:

- Advertisements are accepted on the conditions that (a) descriptions relating to goods are accurate and in no way contravene the provisions of the Trade Descriptions Act 1968 and the Fair Trading Act 1973, and (b) the copy complies with the British Code of Advertising Practice. Advertisements offering credit or hire facilities must conform to the Consumer Credit (Advertisements) Regulations 1980.
- 'Classified' Advertisers offering goods or service of a business, commercial or trade nature will, at the discretion of the Publishers, be deemed 'Trade Advertisers', and as such, must include their names in advertisements. A telephone number is an optional addition to these requirements and not an alternative.
- To comply with the Business Advertisements (Disclosure) Order 1977, Trade Advertisers must make it clear that they are selling goods in the course of business either by content, format, size or place of the advertisement or by including words such as 'trade', 'dealer', 'agent', 'wholesaler', 'TT' etc. in the advertisement.
- The Publishers accept no liability whatsoever for any loss or damage however caused arising out of:
 - (a) Any error, inaccuracy or omission in the printing or publishing of any advertisement;
 - (b) Any failure to publish an advertisement on the day / date or day / dates specified by the advertiser; or
 - (c) Any delay in forwarding or omission to forward replies to box numbers to the Advertiser.
- The Publishers will endeavour to publish advertisements on the day / date or day / dates specified by the Advertiser but insertion days / dates cannot be guaranteed.
- Where shrinkage of advertisement occurs for whatever reasons the advertisement will be charged to the nearest full centimetre. This will NOT apply to the full-page advertisements, which remain full pages even after shrinkage.
- The Publishers reserve the right to reject an advertisement or to vary it in any way they deem fit, at any time before publication, whether or not the advertisement has already been accepted for publication.
- Whilst every effort is made to minimise errors in advertisements, mistakes do sometimes occur. Advertisers or their agents should therefore check their advertisements and inform us of any errors immediately. Responsibility cannot be accepted for more than one incorrect insertion. Typographical or minor changes, which do not affect the value of the advertisement, do not qualify for republication or allowances.
- All gross advertising rates (except classified lineage and semi-display) are subject to and include a 0.1% Advertising Standards Board of Finance surcharge, payable by the advertisers to help finance the self-regulatory control system administered by the Advertising Standards Authority.
- All rates quoted are subject to VAT at the rate currently in force at the time the advertisement appears.
- Should the rate for advertisements be altered the price for remaining insertions shall be revised accordingly or the publishers shall have the right to cancel the unexpired portion of the order.
- The placing of an advertisement order will be deemed an acceptance of these conditions.
- Account facilities are granted at the discretion of the Company.
- All accounts must be settled within the terms agreed by the Company and the Customer.
 - (i) Should an advertiser be in breach of the agreed terms, the publisher shall be entitled to levy a 10% surcharge on the value of the whole debt in respect of accounts with terms of less than 30 days, and any discounts or commissions that had been allowed will be reclaimed.
 - (ii) Regular monthly accounts that are in breach of the agreed terms will pay an interest rate of 6% above the current bank of England base rate for each month that the account is overdue and discounts or commissions that had been allowed will be reclaimed. Should Legal action be required the interest will be charged in accordance with the County Court Act 1984.
- Where an advertiser instructs / appoints an advertising agent to act on their behalf, the advertiser will remain jointly and severally liable for payment in respect for an advertisement should the appointed agent fail to pay. For the avoidance of doubt, the agent acts for the advertiser and not for the publisher with the agent being responsible for notifying the advertiser of this liability.
- All queries must be notified, preferably in writing to the accounts department of the publisher within 7 days of the invoice date.
- All digital services are maintained in partnership with the publishers' hosting service providers. Every effort is made to ensure the continuity of these services, but some occasional technical downtime beyond the publishers control may occur. The publisher and its associated companies shall be under no liability if the production and distribution of web services is delayed or prevented by any cause beyond the control of the publisher.
- The Publisher may provide voucher copies for published advertisements in electronic form only subject to certain criteria. Further information is available on request.
- The copyright of advertisements produced wholly or partially by the Publishers belong to the Publishers. Advertisers may not reproduce such advertisements without the Publishers' consent.

Box Numbers
Boxes are open for the receipt of bona fide answers and are not available for distribution of trade canvassing matter. Original testimonials, goods, cash, cash stamps or payments of any kind must not be enclosed. A box Number and postal address are charged as part of the advertisement, i.e. Box No., centre address. There is no charge for forwarding replies. Box numbers alone are not available for use in 'Trade' advertisements, other than Employment and Business Opportunities.

Holiday & Travel Category
All advertising must contain the name of the advertiser, phone number alone are not permitted.

Data Protection
The service you have requested may require us to carry out a credit search at a credit-referencing agency, which will record the fact that a search has been made. We may need to share your information with other lenders and credit reference agencies. However, we will only use the information from these searches to make credit-granting decisions and, if necessary, for fraud prevention or tracing debtors. Data controller will use your information for administration and analysis. We may share your information with other Tindle Group Newspaper companies or carefully selected third parties. We, or they, may send you details of other goods and services, which may be of interest to you. The information may be provided by letter, telephone or other reasonable means of communication. Calls may be recorded or monitored for training purposes. Special conditions apply with regard to the advertising of adult services, which are outlined to all persons submitting such advertisements.

CONDITIONS OF ACCEPTANCE FOR ALL ADVERTISEMENTS

Orders are accepted by the Publishers subject to the Standard Conditions agreed between the Newspaper Society and the Institute of Practitioners in Advertising. Save that:

1. Advertisements are accepted on the conditions that (a) descriptions relating to goods are accurate and in no way contravene the provisions of the Trade Descriptions Act 1968, and the Fair Trading Act 1973, and (b) the copy complies with the British Code of Advertising Practice. Advertisements offering credit or hire facilities must conform to the Consumer Credit (Advertisements) Regulations 1980.

2. 'Classified' Advertisers offering goods or service of a business, commercial or trade nature will, at the discretion of the Publishers, be deemed 'Trade Advertisers', and as such, must include their names in advertisements. A telephone number is an optional addition to these requirements and not an alternative.

To comply with the Business Advertisements (Disclosure) Order 1977, Trade Advertisers must make it clear that they are selling goods in the course of business either by content, format, size or place of the advertisement or by including words such as 'trade', 'dealer', 'agent', 'wholesaler', '(T)' etc. in the advertisement.

3. The Publishers accept no liability whatsoever for any loss or damage however caused arising out of:

- Any error, inaccuracy or omission in the printing or publishing of any advertisement;
- Any failure to publish an advertisement on the day / date or day / dates specified by the advertiser; or
- Any delay in forwarding or omission to forward replies to box numbers to the Advertiser.

4. The Publishers will endeavour to publish advertisements on the day / date or day / dates specified by the Advertiser but insertion days / dates cannot be guaranteed.

5. Where shrinkage of advertisement occurs for whatever reasons the advertisement will be charged to the nearest full centimetre. This will NOT apply to the full-page advertisements, which remain full pages even after shrinkage.

6. The Publishers reserve the right to reject an advertisement or to vary it in any way they deem fit, at any time before publication, whether or not the advertisement has already been accepted for publication.

7. Whilst every effort is made to minimise errors in advertisements, mistakes do sometimes occur. Advertisers or their agents should therefore check their advertisements and inform us of any errors immediately. Responsibility cannot be accepted for more than one incorrect insertion. Typographical or minor changes, which do not affect the value of the advertisement, do not qualify for republication or allowances.

8. All gross advertising rates (except classified lineage and semi-display) are subject to and include a 0.1% Advertising Standards Board of Finance surcharge, payable by the advertisers to help finance the self-regulatory control system administered by the Advertising Standards Authority.

9. All rates quoted are subject to VAT at the rate currently in force at the time the advertisement appears.

10. Should the rate for advertisements be altered the price for remaining insertions shall be revised accordingly or the publishers shall have the right to cancel the unexpired portion of the order.

11. The placing of an advertisement order will be deemed an acceptance of these conditions.

12. Account facilities are granted at the discretion of the Company.

13. All accounts must be settled within the terms agreed by the Company and the Customer.

(1) Should an advertiser be in breach of the agreed terms, the publisher shall be entitled to levy a 10% surcharge on the value of the whole debt in respect of accounts with terms of less than 30 days, and any discounts or commissions that had been allowed will be reclaimed.

(2) Regular monthly accounts that are in breach of the agreed terms will pay an interest rate of 6% above the current bank of England base rate for each month that the account is overdue and discounts or commissions that had been allowed will be reclaimed. Should Legal action be required the interest will be charged in accordance with the County Court Act 1984.

14. Where an advertiser instructs / appoints an advertising agent to act on their behalf, the advertiser will remain jointly and severally liable for payment in respect for an advertisement(s) should the appointed agent fail to pay. For the avoidance of doubt, the agent acts for the advertiser and not for the publisher with the agent being responsible for notifying the advertiser of this liability.

15. All queries must be notified, preferably in writing to the accounts department of the publisher within 7 days of the invoice date.

16. All digital services are maintained in partnership with the publishers' hosting service providers. Every effort is made to ensure the continuity of these services, but some occasional technical downtime beyond the publishers control may occur. The publisher and its associated companies shall be under no liability if the production and distribution of web services is delayed or prevented by any cause beyond the control of the publisher.

17. The Publisher may provide voucher copies for published advertisements in electronic form only subject to certain criteria. Further information is available on request.

18. The copyright of advertisements produced wholly or partially by the Publishers belong to the Publishers. Advertisers may not reproduce such advertisements without the Publishers' consent.

Box Numbers

Boxes are open for the receipt of bona fide answers and are not available for distribution of trade canvassing matter. Original testimonials, goods, cash, cash stamps or payments of any kind must not be enclosed. A box Number and postal address are charged as part of the advertisement, i.e. Box No., centre address. There is no charge for forwarding replies.

Box numbers alone are not available for use in 'Trade' advertisements, other than Employment and Business Opportunities.

Holiday & Travel Category

All advertising must contain the name of the advertiser, phone number alone are not permitted.

Data Protection

The service you have requested may require us to carry out a credit search at a credit-referencing agency, which will record the fact that a search has been made. We may need to share your information with other lenders and credit reference agencies. However, we will only use the information from these searches to make credit-granting decisions and, if necessary, for fraud prevention or tracing debtors.

Data controller will use your information for administration and analysis. We may share your information with other Tindle Group Newspaper companies or carefully selected third parties. We, or they, may send you details of other goods and services, which may be of interest to you. The information may be provided by letter, telephone or other reasonable means of communication. Calls may be recorded or monitored for training purposes.

Special conditions apply with regard to the advertising of adult services, which are outlined to all persons submitting such advertisements.

Putting Enfield First

George Spicer Primary School,
Southbury Road, Enfield, Middlesex, EN1 1YF

School Business Manager

Actual Salary: £38,451 - £41,124 pa inclusive (Scale SM1)
36 hours per week x 52 weeks per year
Required from October 2014
Permanent

George Spicer is a popular and successful school which is expanding to four forms of entry. We pride ourselves in having an excellent ethos amongst staff, children and families who have high expectations of teaching, learning and pastoral support.

From September 2014 the school will be split over 2 sites; as the new building at Kimberley Gardens opens for Reception and KS1. We wish to develop our office teams on the two sites and are looking for a highly competent person to support us in this process.

So, who do we need? We are looking for an excellent School Business Manager who will maintain and develop our financial, personnel and administrative systems. This post is full time and permanent. You may not have worked in a school before, but have a financial qualification and currently be an excellent practitioner in a business manager role. This is a key senior role and we are looking for someone with superb interpersonal skills who can take the initiative, motivate others and lead a team.

We are looking for someone who is excited about contributing towards creating an outstanding learning community; can set in place effective strategies to deliver that vision; will rigorously pursue school improvement and will inspire staff, children, parents and carers.

Candidates should have knowledge of School Business Management and ideally hold the Certificate of School Business Management or, if not, be willing to undertake it.

If you wish to visit the school and discuss the post further or request a pack please contact: Ngozi Omisakin on 8884 7434 or SBM@georgespcier.enfield.sch.uk

Closing date for applications: Friday 29th August 2014.

Interviews: Tuesday 9th September 2014.

The school is committed to safeguarding and promoting the welfare of children and expects all staff and volunteers to share this commitment. An enhanced CRB disclosure and satisfactory references are required for this post.

ROSE SIGNS A NEW DEAL WITH SPURS

By Dominique Stafford

sport.enfield@nlhnews.co.uk

DANNY ROSE is confident that he will enjoy a successful future with Tottenham Hotspur after signing a new five-year deal with the club.

The 24-year-old put pen to paper last week to end speculation that he would be on his way out of White Hart Lane following the signing of fellow left-back Ben Davies from Swansea City.

And Rose admitted that he was delighted to have committed himself to Spurs as he looks to impress new head coach Mauricio Pochettino.

"I'm over the moon to have signed my new contract," he said. "I'm glad it's been sorted, and now I can focus on the start of the season."

"Working under Mauricio has been brilliant. It's been a hard couple of weeks, but we've got back from North America where we went through our three games unbeaten, so we're all happy and everyone has a good understanding of what the manager wants to implement."

"We've brought in Ben and I'm hoping he can improve me, and likewise I'm hoping I can help him settle in and help him improve his game as well."

"There are two or three good players in each position at the club and we're all excited for the start of the season."

Rose has made 59 appearances for Spurs since marking his Premier League debut by scoring a spectacular goal against Arsenal in 2010, and he is looking forward to adding to that tally in the coming campaign.

"It's nice to be able to stay at one club, be familiar with your surroundings and I hope to see out my contract here," he added. "I remember my first competitive game for Tottenham was against Doncaster, my home town, so that's right up there as my favourite moment so far."

"My first league start and goal against Arsenal is up there too, which helped the club finish fourth that season."

"This season, first and foremost, I want to stay injury-free. I had a small, annoying injury at the start of last season that kept me out for a while and when I came back I was a bit inconsistent with my performances, so I'm determined to improve on that this time."

"From a club point of view I hope we can be a bit more consistent as well, because last season we lost to and drew with teams that we feel we should be beating. While this season will be a difficult one, we're all looking forward to it."

Meanwhile, versatile England under-21 defender Eric Dier has become Spurs' third signing of the summer.

The 20-year-old, who has signed a five-year contract, joins Tottenham from Sporting Lisbon, where he made 30 first-team appearances.

"I'm really excited to be joining such a big club," Dier said. "It's always been my ambition to come back to England and play in the Premier League."

"I want to impress the manager and keep the fans happy, I just want to do as well as well as I can with the club."

"Spurs are a massive club. I've always enjoyed their attacking football, and I think coming from Portugal that suits me – this season I want to adapt really quickly to the Premier League and have as good a season as I can."

North Middlesex's impressive run continues

NORTH MIDDLESEX produced another fine performance to secure a 106-run victory at home to Twickenham in the top flight of the Middlesex County Cricket League on Saturday.

With North Middlesex's poor early season form becoming an increasingly distant memory, they dominated this clash throughout to claim their fourth win in five matches.

Tom Nicoll (89) and Joe Hewton (62) were the batting stars for the hosts, adding 122 for the fifth wicket to help them amass a total of 278. Gurjit Sandhu (4-43) was the pick of the bowlers.

Joel Hughes (3-27) and Joe Denly (3-50) then shone with the ball as Twickenham could only make 172 in reply, despite 58 from David Russell.

However, Hornsey slumped to a five-wicket defeat at Ealing which has left them just two points clear of the relegation zone.

Paul Weekes (35) and Chetan Patel (30) were the main contributors with the bat as Hornsey struggled to 130 all out in the face of some fine bowling from Chris Peplow (5-36).

Michael Philipson (4-32) bowled superbly for the visitors when Ealing replied, but Damian Shirazi (44 not out) and Robert White (40) helped to guide them to 132-5.

Meanwhile, Highgate produced a stunning run chase to beat South Hampstead by four wickets and climb into second in Division Three.

Sridharan Sriram (81) and Leroy Shepherd (85 not out) piled on the runs as South Hampstead amassed 272-4 batting first.

Highgate fell to 4-2 in reply, but Christopher Arul (92) and William Russell (87) added 156 for the third wicket before Nicholas Brunner smashed an unbeaten 51 off 25 balls as they made it to 275-6 with three balls to spare.

But North London lost by six wickets at home to Wembley, being dismissed for 211 before watching their visitors ease to 216-4.

North Middlesex go to Richmond on Saturday, while Hornsey host Finchley, North London visit Barnes and Highgate make the trip to Kenton.

Poor second half costs the Skolars

THE London Skolars fell away in the second half to slump to a 38-28 defeat at home to Oldham Roughyeds in rugby league's Kingstone Press Championship One on Sunday.

Still playing at their temporary home of the Queen Elizabeth Stadium in Enfield, the Skolars got off to a bad start as the visitors raced into an early 14-0 lead – with Mo Agoro (two) and Jon Ford scoring tries in the first 15 minutes and Lewis Palfrey adding a conversion.

But the hosts hit back superbly, using their big forwards to good effect as they scored 22 unanswered points to transform the match.

Will Lovell (two), Tely Pelo and Iliess Macani all scored tries during this period, with Courtney Davies converting three of them, to raise hopes that the Skolars could secure their fourth league win of the season.

Oldham responded late in the first half as

Adam Clay scored a try which Steve Roper converted to leave them two points adrift at the interval.

And the visitors again made much the brighter start to the second period, with Josh Crowley and Danny Langtree both scoring converted tries within eight minutes of the restart.

Mufaro Mvududu gave the Skolars hope by scoring a try which Pelo converted to leave them trailing by four points, and the hosts put Oldham under considerable pressure as they attempted to make another breakthrough.

However, their fate was sealed when a fine length-of-the-field move ended with Agoro completing his hat-trick to secure victory for the visitors.

The London Skolars host Oxford at Hemel Stags' Pennine Way ground on Saturday (2pm).
